Bleatings

BY

the Old GOAT

IN LAST WEEK'S issue we voiced several of our problems. Minutes after the paper "hit the streets" one important problem was solved. The problems, if you recall, were how we could save some of Mrs. Prout's jelly for Mr. Edwin Parker. He is the gentleman who found the wallet. Mrs. Prout called to tell us that she had delivered some goodies to Mr. Parker and that he wouldn't have to fight our staff for a taste.

WHILE VISITING the Country Woman's Club new project, the Museum, we were pleased to chat with Mrs. Edna Smith. She is a former publisher of The Press. Each time we happen to run into Mrs. Smith we cannot help but marvel how wonderful she looks. It is always our pleasure to spend a few minutes with her.

JUST IN CASE YOU missed it, the Campbell Chamber of Commerce Installation Dinner was very enjoyable. We think the new president did a grand job. John Faber as the Member of The Year was a fine choice. John deserved this recognition. We don't feel that we are sticking our neck out when we predict that Campbell will have a hard working Chamber this year, and we expect to see some real progress during 1964 with Dawson at the helm.

TED REGAS, newly appointed Highway Relations Committee Chairman, has asked us to join him in continuing the "fight" to have Campbell put on the Route 17 Freeway. We accepted. Any of our readers interested in joining? We can use all the help we can muster. We neglected to ask Ted if the Bank of America would purchase the Freeway if we received no cooperation from the powers in Sacramento.

NOW THAT IT IS just about certain that Campbell will be a "College Town" we think it would be wise for each of the Service Clubs of Campbell to plan a real welcome to the West Valley Junior College. These people will need and appreciate all of the help each of us can offer.

IF YOU happen to be a program chairman of an organization in the area, we would like to suggest asking Dr. Wallace Hall to speak during your meeting. He is a very interesting and informative speaker.

TOMORROW IS the opening of the local political season. Persons thinking of entering the City Council race may apply for nomination papers. January 30 until February 20 is the time to seek out signatures in order that a candidate's name be placed on the ballot. City Clerk, Dorothy Trevethan is the gal to see at the City Hall.

City Council refuses Mayor's stand on Junior College Bond Election

Mayor Peter Lico suggested to the Campbell City Council that they object as a body to the West Valley College Bond Election. He reminded the Councilmen that Mayor Thomas Inglis of Monte Sereno had refused to endorse the Bond Election. Councilmen Edward Rogers and Ralph Doetsch refused to object to the Bond Election as an official body. Rogers stated that "Inglis is against all education" and that the College would boost sales in the city." San Jose State College is one of San Jose's biggest industries," Rogers pointed out.

Mayor Lico also expressed his objections to the Junior College moving into Campbell Grammar School on a temporary basis. His main objections were that the College would not bring funds to the city and that a traffic problem would result to the extent that at least five more police officers would be needed. Lico said that to allow the Junior College to move in would delay the development of the Grammar School property, thereby causing the loss of sales tax and ad valorem revenus.

Councilman Henry Weitzel agreed with the Mayor that a traffic problem would result, and that the Council should contact the West Valley Junior College District, asking for help with the problem, and that the Junior College locate elsewhere.

Councilman Robert McElroy asked "Why can't we stop this, it's ridiculous."

Councilman Doetsch pointed out that the City should do all it can to help the Bond Election in order that the College would be able to purchase land and construct a new campus as soon as possible. He reminded the Council that to fight the Bond Issue would only keep the school at the temporary location for a longer period of time.

Five named to Appeal Board

W.L. Morser, Chief Building Inspector, has requested that the City Council appoint five members to serve on the Appeal Board for the City of Campbell. This Appeal Board is to act in all cases involving zoning and building code enforcements. The duration of their appointment is at the will and pleasure of the City Council.

Letters to each of the new appointees were sent to J.B. Scott, 100 North Central Avenue, Glen DuBois, 1101 East McBain Avenue. Clarence Nelson, 275 E. Campbell Avenue, Robert Walker, 861 Camden Avenue and John P. Watson, 783 E. Hamilton Avenue.

$309,000 for storm drains

The Campbell City Council has directed the City engineer to sell $309,000 in Storm Drain Bonds. The Engineer indicated storm drains will be built in five Campbell locations. The first will be on West Campbell Avenue to Winchester. Other locations will be Milton Avenue, south of Los Gatos Creek, East Latimer to the Campbell Post Office; the Extension of Hamilton Avenue, west of Carlyn, and Bascom Avenue to Midway Avenue.

Commission okays plans for new shopping center

The Campbell Planning Commission granted "S" (architectural) approval of plans for a membership shopping center to be located on ten acres of property at the northeast corner of San Tomas Aquino Road and Campbell Avenue. The project has been under fire for some time, because citizens in the area felt it would be too close to residential construction and would cause traffic congestion.

Alec Land, the developer, has built two other membership shopping centers, one in Menlo Park and another in Colma. The plans call for a large concrete block building with a covered walk-way and a parking area. Landscaping will also be developed. Commissioner Homer Hyde said, "this type of construction has become universally acceptable for large units." Commissioner Harry Lee, who voted against the approval, said "This is not architectural, this is a square box." Developer Land told the Campbell Press construction would start as soon as he obtained the financing.

Another delay on Campbell Park

A decision on Phase Two of Campbell Park was delayed Monday night because Councilmen were under the impression that the park was to have play equipment for older children as well as barbecue facilities. Plans presented by Landscape Artist George Martin showed play equipment for children eight years old or younger. The matter was referred to Parks and Recreation Director Charles Rose for further study

Campbell School District has evaluation report

Campbell Union School District board of trustees has accepted an evaluation report from Marshall and Stevens, Inc., appraisers and evaluation consultants, that underlines some of the solid value taxpayers are getting for their education dollars.

Total value of buildings in the district is $10, 456, 732, and total value of the equipment within these buildings, $1, 278, 638 - or a grand total of $11,735,370. This does not include equipment outside the school buildings such as school busses.

The report was presented at the January 23 board meeting. Purpose of this kind of appraisal is to establish a firm evaluation for fire insurance purposes and to determine what is really inside each building for control of inventory.

Superintendent Wm. C. Henley observed, "The Board gets an outside agency to evaluate buildings and to inventory and evaluate equipment. This is just one more control on the business administration of the school district."

The group, currently composed of approximately 60 persons from West Valley Junior College District, is being expanded and reorganized for the college's coming bond election, March 10, Poe said. Persons interested in assisting are invited to attend.

Chamber selects John Faber "Man of the Year"

RECEIVES AWARD-- John Faber was the recipient of the "Member of the Year" award from the Campbell Chamber of Commerce, at their installation dinner held last Thursday night. Les Harmon made the presentation.

The Campbell Chamber of Commerce held its annual Installation Dinner at Villa Felice Thursday night which was attended by a record crowd, approximately 200 persons. William E. Ziegler, the retiring president, presented the gavel to the new president, John T. (Jack) Dawson, after introducing the new officers and members of the Board of Directors.

John E. Faber, proprietor of Campbell Memorial Chapel, was selected as "Man of the Year" for 1963 for his efforts as chairman of the Downtown Development Committee. Faber, who has been a member of the Chamber since 1956, has urged the beautification of the City and has recommended the formation of an improvement district in the downtown Campbell area. He also served as chairman of the Campbell Park Dedication at the Old Settlers Celebration in 1963. Faber, who was completely surprised by the award, remarked to the audience that "I wish my old high school principal could see this!"

Oscar Sorenson, the new treasurer, was awarded a trophy for having recruited the most new members in 1963. A combination desk set and trophy was presented to the retiring president, William Ziegler. Entertainment was provided by the members of the "Oklahoma" cast of Campbell High School, under the direction of Lawrence McCommas.

Hamilton Avenue extension may be completed in '64

The completion of the Hamilton Avenue extension should have first place on the City's calendar in 1964, according to Myron Hawk, Campbell City Engineer. Hawk, who has met with James Pott, acting Director of Public Works for Santa Clara County and Donald Currlin of the Santa Clara County Water Conservation District, reports that they have informed him work on the San Tomas Expressway has been moved up to 1965. The County had previously set 1967 as the construction date. With this information Hawk advised the Planning Commission and the members of the City Council to acquire right of way on Hamilton Avenue now, in order to keep ahead of the Expressway.

The opening of the Hamilton Avenue extension will give the city another "through" street with four lanes from Winchester Road to San Tomas Aquino Road, and lessen the traffic congestion on Campbell Avenue. Hawk told the Planners this project is of "paramount importance" and should be started immediately.

The City has $76,000 budgeted for Hamilton Avenue improvements. Additional funds will be necessary to complete the project.

The City Planning Commission and the City Council has endorsed acceptance of the Briggs and Bell offer which would facilitate the Hamilton Avenue extension. William Briggs has offered to enter into an agreement with the City, conditioned upon receipt of zoning in the N. E. quadrant of Hamilton and San Tomas Expressway for a service station. In consideration for such zoning, Briggs would install all necessary improvements and contribute $20,000 to the City to be spent on Hamilton extension. Gas tax money could also be spent on this project. It is expected that property owners would sign the petition to form the Local Improvement District if they were assured that the extension would cost them nothing, at least until developed, at which time curbs, gutters and sidewalks would be required.

In reply to questions concerning the two narrow bridges on Latimer Avenue which residents in the area had hoped would be widened, Hawk pointed out that it would be a needless waste to make temporary bridges on that street for one year, when the Flood Control District will be relocating the San Tomas Creek channel to allign it with the Expressway in 1965. He recommended that the bridges be left as they are this year

Tomorrow thinking time begins

In one sense of the word, tomorrow is the beginning of the City Council election to be held April 14. During these next few weeks we feel it is the duty of each citizen to learn everything possible about each candidate.

A popular phrase "what can one person do" becomes important during the election year. We hear many gripes and disagreements with Council actions during the year. This is the time for expressing views and asking questions. We can remember the number of times the Council Chambers have been loaded to capacity with citizens either protesting or affirming some Council action. We submit that many of these problems will crop up again and again. It is our belief that candidates should raise issues and inform the electorate of his personal view on a particular issue.

In our opinion Campbell is at the crossroads. With the increase in sales tax revenues and increase in all activity, the next two years shall be very important. We feel that the mold of the future of Campbell will be formed during these crucial years.

In our opinion, each candidate should present a plan for the future of Campbell in regards to planning and tax structure. There are other problems facing the City that the voters should have an understanding of. The corporation yard, the City Parks, and the future of Campbell Avenue should be subjects of the "campaign".

If the three "new" councilmen could be given a mandate, we are certain that it would further the prospects of having a harmonious City Government. A mandate would make a difficult task easier.

In view of the fact that the present Council decided to appoint a new City Manager before the elections; we firmly believe that the voice of the people would give the new City Manager a clearer view of what the citizens expect.

Campbell has problems, and so have other cities. Before these problems can be solved, others crop up. This is progress. It is to the benefit of each of us to choose the best men possible to approach these problems.

This is the time to start serious thinking.... soon it will be the time for action.

FICTION

CITIES OF THE FLESH by Zoe Oldenbourg

Cities of the Flesh takes us back to the medieval world. It recreates the world of twelfth century France and a crusader Roger de Montrun, a knight caught in the unending conflict of that time. The brutal and constant civil war of the crusade tears him from the woman he loves and eventually forces him to undergo a calvary of imprisonment and inquisition. This is a magnificient and terrible masterpiece.

STORIES MY MOTHER NEVER TOLD ME by Alfred Hitchcock

Mr. Hitchcock is ready to testify in court that none of these stories were recounted to him by his mother. The reason is simple. None of them had been written at the time when his mother was telling stories to him, and besides, they are not stories for children. They run the full gauntlet of emotions, having of course the tender sentiments.

THE SICK FOX by Paul Brodeur

Harry Brace, the hero of this suspenseful and compelling novel, is a counter intelligence agent living an idyllic existence in Germany, where he has been sent to watch over an underground nuclear storage site. The idyll is broken when he goes trout fishing and comes across a fox that appears to be rabid, and finds he is unable to kill it. Throughout the novel, Paul Brodeur probes deeply into the mood of Germany today, and into the mind of man.

Jan. 19, 1964
Dear Mr. Anello,

I wrote Safeway Stores to say I am happy to see their ad in our paper Wednesday evening, so that I can plan my shopping.

Also - my husband got a hole in one last Jan. 4 ('64) in a Sylvania golf tournament. Manny Goulart verified this tremendous occasion of 200 yards in one stroke at the ninth hole -- with a special trophy from Hillview Golf course. The odds on a hole in one are 8800 to 1, they say. Pictures of Hank kissing his club, addressing the ball, or with big grin (ball in one hand and one finger aloft in other hand) are available on request.

Dear Mr. Anello,

Enclosed is a page from my monthly newspaper to the patrons of this school. I thought the little verse might be of value to you sometime.

The thoughts were truly spontaneous and they were given to me with appropriate shyness that little blonde girls use to brighten days.

Lee also won the only trophy that students from St. Lucy's didn't take in the poster and essay contest that Inspector Borden publicized during the last Fire Prevention Week. She has the third place essay trophy.

She is an alert student and her sentiments regarding the hours that brought consternation to all of us are truly deep.

Very sincerely.

THE PRESIDENT
'KENNEDY'

Here lies a friend
Who served us to the end,
And in his strong hands
He held all towns and lands.
I'll never forget the face
That in my heart held its place.
And I will never, ever,
Forget this man, no never!
Warble, dear, sweet bird,
The sweetest song ever heard,
Sing above this lonely spot
Sing while you can, I cannot.
You gave us love so true
And my heart cries for you.
But somehow I must hide my sorrow,
And get ready for tomorrow.
We'll not forget you as you rest,
For we know you always did your best.
I will remember you always as: The President 'Kennedy' who died for his country.

Open letter to: Mrs. J.A. McFall, Mrs. Laurine Harvey and Lucille Mayo.

Ladies:

In your letter to the editor, dated 22 January 1964, you expressed disappointment in me for allegedly refering to Railway Avenue where you live as a "slum" area. Had I really been guilty of the charge not only should you have felt disappointed but outraged as well. Happily, I am honestly able to report to you that what I said was that the whole vicinity, not just Railway Avenue alone, was the target for an upgrading campaign on the part of the city. I did not call it a slum area. Nor would I ever call it that knowing, as I do, that some of our most respectable citizens live there--and knowing further that there are other areas in Campbell where upgrading is long overdue. Believe me, these other areas will receive my attention too.

It is possible that you may have misinterpreted the writer's intent in the original article. This can easily happen to anyone, and in fact has happened to me. I feel greatly honored that you voted for me and my immediate reaction to your letter was that I had caused great anguish to people who trusted me. It is my hope that this letter will adequately explain my position and set the record straight.

Sincerely yours,
EDWARD J. ROGERS
Vice-Mayor

Dear Editor

Things get funnier and funnier. About two years ago we were informed that the Campbell Grammar School was obsolete, condemned, unfit for the children to go to school in and too expensive to remodel. Besides being too expensive a piece of property tax-wise to keep off the tax rolls as a public, non-profit school property. Great rumors were heard about how much more benefit the property would be, tax-wise, and to the citizens of Campbell, with its central location, as a possible location for a great department store, or at least as commercial property.

Yesterday, I read that the Campbell Grammar School will in all probability end up as the location for the West Valley Junior College, at $48,000 per year. Not that I'm one to knock the source of income, as a tax-payer in the Campbell Union School District, but as a tax-payer in the West Valley Junior College District, I must protest. What about the danger to the students going to school in a condemned, obsolete building---or are junior college students supposed to be immune to danger? And the remodeling costs ---aren't they out of line with this poor struggling district? And what has happened to the great benefits, tax-wise that this piece of property was going to bring to Campbell when it was no longer tax free?

In short---just why is this piece of property unfit for the 7th and 8th grade students of the Campbell Union School District, but fine for the students of the West Valley Junior College?

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Immediately after our letter was printed, rejecting the proclamation that our street, Railway Avenue, "was the Slum of Campbell," Mr. Rogers called we ladies: Denouncing any knowledge of the statement, and agreed to make it publicly known he was not guilty. We will endeavor to be just as "Big" as Mr. Rogers. We express our sincere apologies to him - our intentions were for the guilty whom ever they may be - not the innocent victim.

The question of Presidential succession, again prominent in American thought, dates back to one of the rare instances of careless draftsmanship on the part of our Founding Fathers. The fifth clause, Section 1, Article 2, of the Constitution reads: "In case of the removal of the President from office, or his death, resignation, or inability to discharge the powers and duties of the said office, the Same shall devolve on the Vice President, ...".

In our early history there was serious question as to whether "the Same" meant that the Vice President should only take over the "powers and duties" of the Presidency until a new one was elected or whether he should actually become President.

This issue was settled in 1841 when President William Henry Harrison died and Vice President Tyler took the oath as President. Thus, in the words of Justice Cardozo, "The Constitution was as effectively amended.... by custom as if a formal amendment had been adopted". On six subsequent occasions when Vice Presidents succeeded deceased Presidents, this unwritten amendment to the Constitution has been unquestioned.

But the meaning of the words "inability to discharge the powers and duties...." is still not clear after 175 years.

In the American Bar Association Journal for January, Justice Samuel H. Hofstadter of the New York Supreme Court, and Jacob M. Dinnes of the New York Bar relate some interesting history of this problem. Only one delegate to the Constitutional Convention, John Dirkinson of Delaware, questioned the mechanics of determining a President's "inability". His inquiry was not answered and was never raised again.

This has caused serious problems. On July 2, 1881, President Garfield was shot and lingered on until September 19, during which time we did not have a competent executive because Vice President Arthur was restrained from acting as President by four members of Garfield's Cabinet who thought such action might effectively remove Garfield from office.

President Wilson was unable to act for almost a year and a half following his stroke in September of 1919. In the meantime 28 Congressional acts became law when he was unable to consider them and the Senate debate of the Versailles Treaty suffered from the lack of information that Wilson, as a participant in the Treaty negotiations, could have provided.

This problem could have appeared again had President Roosevelt lingered on after his cerebral hemorrhage at the climax of World War II and again at the time of Eisenhower's heart attack or if President Kennedy had been seriously incapacitated.

In the opinion of Justice Holstadter and Mr. Dinnes, the extra-legal arrangements utilized by President Eisenhower and Kennedy and now President Johnson are not sound answers. They leave no doubt that a Constitutional amendment is required.

Unless action for an amendment to the Constitution is prompt, the urgency of the present will dull, and the lethargy of 175 years will return. In this atomic age and in this time of continuing crisis we cannot afford lethargy.

Alken Const is low bidder for school addition

The low bid of Alken Construction Company for construction of Forest Hill School Addition No. 2, was accepted by the Campbell Union School District Board of Trustees. Amount of the bid was $75,880. High bid was $82,200. The board also took action to call an election Sept. 15 to seek voter approval for approximately $4,500,000 in bonds and $4,000,000 in state aid. Such action would make it possible to continue the school district's building program for the next four to five years.

SOCIAL SECURITY ADMINISTRATION

By
Gladstone A. Boquist
Field Representative

Q.-I work for wages on a farm. My boss takes out social security every week from my pay but I don't think he sends it in. When I asked him about it, he said he'll send it all in at the end of the year. Is this proper?

A.-For a farm worker, yes. Unlike other employers, farmers don't have to make quarterly social security reports. They send in their social security reports once a year, in January.

Q.-I hire a lady to cook meals for my farm help. Do I report her wages along with my other agricultural employees or do I report her wages each quarter?

A.-Wages paid to a domestic worker in a farm home are reported once a year just like other agricultural employees. If she is paid $150 a year in cash wages or works at least part of 20 days during the year with her pay figured on a time basis, her work is covered by social security.

Q.-I hire a housekeeper one day each week and pay her $3 a day. I also give her $1 a week for bus fare. I understand that I do not have to report her wages for social security purposes since her wages are only $39 for each quarter.

A.-The $1 a week bus fare is considered part of her earnings. Therefore, you are actually paying her wages of $52 a quarter. Thus, you are required to report these wages each quarter.

Q.-Two years ago I had an accident that disabled me permanently. I did not apply for social security disability benefits then, but now I have run out of money. Is there a time limit on social security disability claims or can I still apply?

A.-You should apply immediately to protect your eligibility and to avoid loss of payments. Your social security office will explain the time limits. Anyone who has a disability which is so severe that he is not able to work now or in the foreseeable future, should apply without delay.

Automatic dryers save a heap of work.

A dryer can save you from lugging about two tons of wet wash a year. Or to put it another way, it can save you from pinning (and unpinning) about 10,000 clothespins.

With a dryer you can dry the family wash day or night. In any weather.

And there are settings for any fabric—assuring a better job.

Your laundry comes out soft and fluffy. Not wind-whipped and tangled. New damp dry settings make clothes come out just right for ironing, too. No sprinkling. No rolling. In fact, some things come out so wrinkle-free, they need no ironing at all.

With all the advantages of a dryer it's no wonder so many women have stopped hanging wash on a clothesline.

Some

"But beginning about the fourth night, we can begin to see changes in their faces. The peak has been actually fear death.

Veterans getting pensions asked to return reports

Veterans and dependents of deceased veterans on the Veterans Administration's nonservice-connected pension rolls who fail to return their income questionnaires by January 31 will not receive any more checks and may even have to pay back the money received in 1963.

VA officials issued this warning pointing out that the questionnaires were mailed a month earlier than usual this year. VA mailed the income information forms with the November 30 checks but the return deadline date remains January 31.

The questionnaire carries a printed warning which reads, "Important. Failure to return this card before January 31, 1964, will result in discontinuance of payment. You would also be required to pay back all the pension you received last year."

Since these benefits are paid only to those veterans, their widows or minor children whose incomes are below certain limits, the VA is required by law to receive an income report each year to support the payments.

VA officials asked that the card be fully completed and signed before it is sent back to the Veterans Administration.

Pets get first class care at local animal hospital

Does Rover have a cavity? Do his teeth need cleaning or extracting? The Animal Medical Center at 195 E. Sunnyoaks Ave., has the latest dentistry equipment to care for such a possibility. As far as he can ascertain, Dr. Charles O Smith reports that this veterinary hospital is the only one in the area with such equipment.

An exponent of preventative medicine, Dr. Smith recommends that animals have all their shots when they are a few months old and there will be less chance of distemper, hepatitis and the administering of expensive antibiotics. It is his opinion that the public waits until an animal is sick or hurt before he brings it to a veterinarian. The cost of animal care could be greatly reduced if a pet is brought in before it is sick.

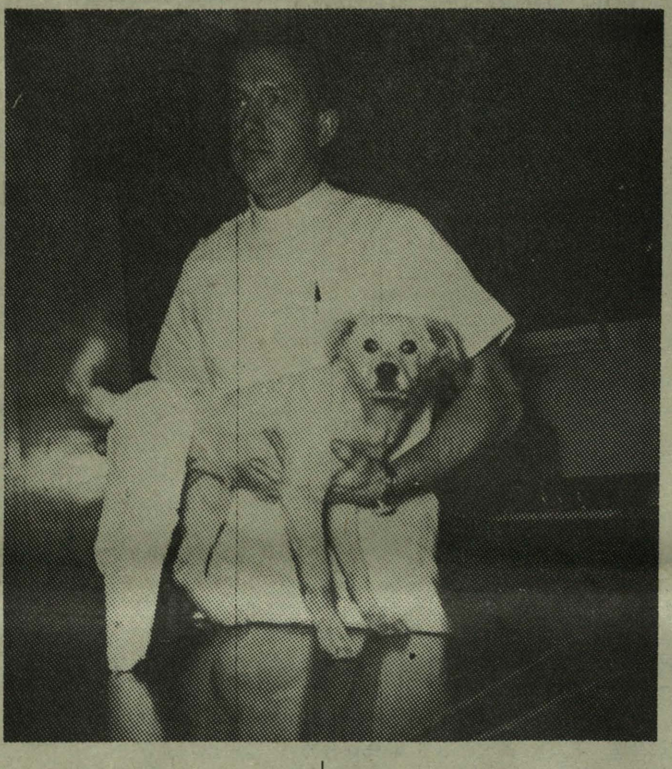
The Animal Medical Center looks like any medical doctor's office. The examining room is where the pet's ailment is diagnosed. Here there is the X Ray machine, the instrument sterilization machine and a bacteria incubator.

Small pets are kept in stainless steel cages lined with shredded paper. Clean water is nearby. The larger breeds are given more space so they can stretch their legs. The Center maintains its own laundry room, where bandages and blankets are washed and dryed. The Center cares for an average of 25 animals at one time, although there are accomodations for 70. There is a special room for bathing and grooming. Asked if he ever had an animal escape, he replied, "never", but indicated that several of his customers have lost their pets en route to their automobiles.

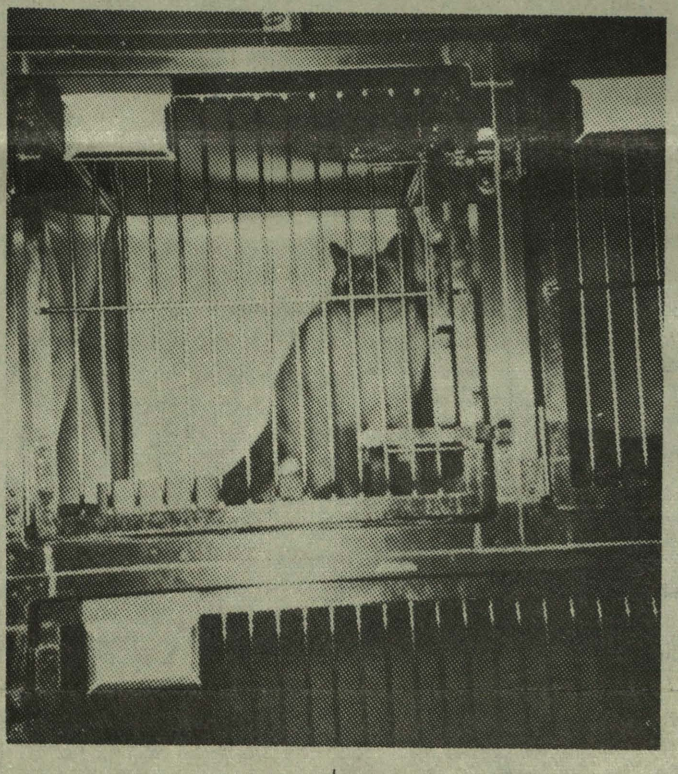
More than once, Dr. Smith said, a cat has been brought in by its owner for spaying, only to discover upon the doctor's examination that the feline is a male.

How much training is necessary to become a licensed veterinarian? Six years, according to Doctor Smith, who is a graduate of the University of California School of Veterinary Medicine at Davis, Calif. He pointed out that U.C. at Davis has the only veterinary school in the state. The number of applicants far exceeds the number of students that can be accepted.

Dr. John D. Nelson and Dr. Robert L. King are associated with Dr. Smith in the operation of the Animal Medical Center. They invite you to drop in and see their hospital.



ON THE MEND--Dr. Charles O. Smith of the Animal Medical Center on Sunny Oaks Avenue holds "Chew" for the camera. Chew is recuperating from a broken leg suffered in an automobile accident.



BOARD AND ROOM--This beautiful Siamese cat is being boarded at the Animal Medical Center while her owners are away.

Council lunches under provisions of Brown Act

Attorney General Stanley Mosk has ruled that City Council members may attend social luncheons of dinners of service clubs, civic or fraternal organizations with no restrictions but if they hold luncheon meetings with organizations for the purpose of discussing municipal problems they come under the Ralph M. Brown Act which prohibits secret meetings.

This latest ruling on the Brown Act follows several others in recent months concerning purported attempts of city councilmen to skirt the law which prohibits taking action in a meeting unless it is public and due notice has been given. In the past, problems have arisen with city councils which held breakfast or luncheon session prior to regular meeting. Decisions were made and discussion held at the breakfast or luncheons. The actual public meeting which followed was merely a formality to take official action on decisions already reached. Such procedures were held to be in violation of the act by the attorney general.

Service projects are a big item in Camp Fire - Doing for others is stressed throughout the program. Part of the monies earned from the sale of the Camp Fire Girls Mints helps the girls to realize this goal.

Another group of Camp Fire Girls is making a layette for the babies at the Brandon House and are also tying in their association with the National Needlework Guild.

OUR TOWN.

By Grace Hebard

Monty Boyd, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Boyd of 1600 Ensenada Drive, was the guest of honor last Saturday night at an "open house" at his parent's home. The occasion was to honor his graduation from San Jose State College where he obtained his teaching credential in Industrial Arts. The lovely party was planned by his wife, the former Martha Uchytil. Over 35 relatives and friends attended the affair. Pink and white carnations decorated the buffet table from which champagne, punch and hors'duerves were served. Mrs. Boyd Sr. greeted her guests in an attractive gown of cranberry red brocaded satin. Mrs. Monty Boyd chose a green and silver creation featuring a long slim skirt. The young couple are both graduates of Campbell High School.
